Simon says ... I can help you.

Simon Leisure Consulting offers clients personalised and attentive service across the full range of leisure projects, including strategy and policy development, facility feasibility and assessment, master planning and sports development.

Or you may require some specialist services, such as industry research, workshop and meeting facilitation, community consultation, business planning, or industry mentoring to help you or your staff.

Simon says ... no project is too big or too small, or too complex or too straight forward.
